Hear and feel the voice great leadership

VOICELEADER is a remarkable approach for corporate executives and professionals who wish to develop their ability to communicate with greater charisma and impact.

With VOICELEADER, Claude Stein shares the stage secrets of great performers, allowing clients to experience first-hand the art of captivating an audience. Average presenters become riveting speakers. Groups become creative collaborators who build meaningful harmonies and speak with a unified voice.

VOICELEADER clients acquire stronger and clearer tone while learning to project genuine warmth and confidence. They discover powerful voices, learn to think on their feet and develop their individual communication styles. Core skills – including diction, resonance and projection – form the groundwork for speakers to share their ideas fearlessly and persuasively.

The VOICELEADER program is offered both privately and in group settings. The results are transformational and lasting. VOICELEADER is essential training for anyone who must lead and communicate with power, passion and authenticity.

Claude Stein is a multi-platinum award-winning vocal producer whose clients appear on Atlantic, Island, Elektra, Sony, RCA, Virgin, Polygram, MCA and Warner Bros. records. He has coached corporate trainers, sales teams and political figures, in addition to senior management professionals at Sprint, Johnson & Johnson, Siemens, Philip Morris and JPMorgan Fleming. His seminars have been offered at The Juilliard School, The Actors Institute, Omega Institute and New York University.

The VOICELEADER curriculum grew out of Mr. Stein's Natural Singer workshop, which he founded and has directed for the past 19 years. With a degree in music composition and analysis as a foundation, Mr. Stein has developed a distinctive approach that blends vocal technique with performance skills, enabling speakers to express themselves more fully and effectively. He has taught thousands of speakers and performers across the United States, Middle East, Asia and Europe to speak and sing with greater power, passion and authenticity.
